

Greetings!

What could be more exciting than a snowstorm in February?

- A return to in-person programming?
- A strategic service area expansion?
- The opening of our annual online Auction?

I am excited to announce a return to normalcy that includes a return to the office for EAL staff beginning Tuesday, March 1st.

I am thrilled to share that training will begin for as many as 16 new EAL tutors in the coming weeks, who will be matched with a learner from our waitlist in early April. These tutors and learners will meet in person in public spaces across our service area.

I am proud to acknowledge the hard work of our staff and our volunteers, and the loyal support of our donors, whose efforts and contributions not only sustained our programs in such unprecedented times, but also gave us the stability needed to expand our efforts to meet the needs of local learners.

I hope all this good news brightens your day, and that you are as excited and proud and I am.

Thank you for being a force for good, through your support of English At Large.

Best regards,
Maureen

EAL Tutoring Program Resumes In-Person Service

After almost 2 years of online instruction, we are excited to announce a return to in-person programming, beginning with our One-to-One Tutoring Program in April 2022.

A decision and possible timeline for a return in in-person group programs will be made later this spring.
